Report of Webinar on “Application of Mathematics on Epidemiology”
Organized by
Department of Mathematics,
Vivekananda Satavarshiki Mahavidyalaya, Manikpara.
Held on 21st August, 2020

Epidemiology is the study and analysis of the distribution, patterns and determinants of health and disease conditions in defined populations. It is a cornerstone of public health, and shapes policy decisions and evidence-based practice by identifying risk factors for disease and targets for preventive healthcare.

We all have been affected by the current COVID-19 pandemic. However, the impact of the pandemic and its consequences are felt differently depending on our status as individuals and as members of society. While some try to adapt to working online, homeschooling their children and ordering food via online system, others have no choice but to be exposed to the virus while keeping society functioning.

Keeping the pandemic situation in mind Department of Mathematics, Vivekananda Satavarshiki Mahavidyalaya has organized a webinar through online platform, titled as “Application of Mathematics on Epidemiology” to explore some scientific knowledge of epidemiology in the frame of mathematics on 21st August, 2020 . Dr. Kartik Patra and Prof. Rahul Mondal were the joint conveners of the webinar. Over 70 college teachers and students (UG, PG and Ph.D Level) participated in the webinar.

There were three invited speakers who shared their experience among the participants. Mr. Rakhhari Pal, Ex-Associate professor, Vivekananda Satavarshiki Mahavidyalaya and Dr. Uma Bhaumik, Principal of our college were also present in the webinar and shared their experience with the participants.

List of invited speakers:

1. Prof. Shyamal Kumar Mondal, HOD & Professor, Department of Applied Mathematics with Oceanology and Computer Programming, Vidyasagar University, Midnapore has explored some ideas on Non-Linear Differential equations in spreading of communicable diseases. Prof. Mondal elaborates the basic ideas about non linear differential equation and how those can be applied to construct the models for communicable diseases. His lecture was very much interesting and helpful for the listeners.
2. Prof. Samarjit Kar, Professor, Department of Mathematics, NIT Durgapur has enlightened us on Deterministic and Fuzzy based infectious disease modeling for SARS- CoV-2. In this current situation this lecture was very much relevant. In his lecture he has discussed how the current situation is going and how this can be stopped. His lecture was very much interesting and useful for the listeners.
3. Dr. Barun Das, Associate Professor, Dept. of Mathematics, Sidhu Kanhu Birsha University, whose talk was focused on Effect of COVID-19 on the Indian Economy and Supply Chain. In his lecture he has discussed the post effect of COVID-19 to the society very interestingly.
